Other journals in the fields of Space Research/Astrophysics/Astronomy:

ASTROPHYSICS AND SPACE SCIENCE
An International Journal of Cosmic Physics

Editor-in-Chief: Z. KOPAL, Manchester
Co-Editors: A. G. W. CAMERON, New York. C. DE JAGER, Utrecht.
M. KITAMURA, Tokyo. J. KLECZEK, Ondřejov. S. B. PIKEL'NER, Moscow.

This journal is dedicated to the advancement of astrophysics and space science, not only of the universe of stars, but also of the solar system – and, in particular, of the Moon – with the sole exception of the Sun.

Subscription price Dfl. 135,– (plus postage) per volume of two or three issues. Personal subscription price on request. Five volumes are published annually.

BOUNDARY-LAYER METEOROLOGY
An International Journal of Physical and Biological Processes in the Atmospheric Boundary Layer

Editor-in-Chief: R. E. MUNN, Toronto

Boundary-Layer Meteorology is an interdisciplinary journal concerned with physical and biological processes in the lowest 1000 m of the atmosphere. It will concentrate on (a) experimental investigations in which the data points (space or time series) are sufficiently numerous that trend and non-linear effects are not obscured; and (b) theoretical models of sufficient realism that they are likely to provide a reasonable approximation to atmospheric behaviour. Averaging times will be typically one hour or less, and papers based on daily or monthly mean values will normally not be published.

Subscription price Dfl. 150,– (plus postage) per volume of four issues. Personal subscription price on request. One volume is published annually.

CELESTIAL MECHANICS
An International Journal of Space Dynamics

Executive Editor: R. K. SQUIRES, Greenbelt
International Editors: G. A. CHEBOTAREV, Leningrad. G. N. DUBOSHIN, Moscow.
G. I. HORI, Tokyo. A. OLLONGREN, Leyden. H. O. RUPPE, München.
V. SARYCHEV, Moscow.

The journal includes celestial mechanics in its broadest sense; i.e., the mathematical, physical and computational aspects of space mechanics; astrodynamics; rigid and non-rigid body dynamics; particle dynamics; geodesy, not only with respect to the Earth but as applied to all other planetary and celestial bodies; and those aspects of ionosphere physics, atmospheric physics, electronic and visual observation theory, statistics, nonlinear mechanics, and numerical analysis, in so far as these bear directly on celestial and space mechanics problems.

Subscription price Dfl. 132,– (plus postage) per volume of four issues. Personal subscription price on request. Two volumes are published annually.

COSMIC ELECTRODYNAMICS

An International Journal Devoted to Geophysical and Astrophysical Plasmas

Editor-in-Chief: C. P. SONETT, Moffett Field
Co-Editors: C.-G. FÄLTHAMMER, Stockholm. T. OBAYASHI, Tokyo

It is intended that this journal should provide a critical forum for research in such problems of space physics, geophysics, and astrophysics where plasmas play a significant or dominant role. By bringing together theory and experiment both from space and from the laboratory and encouraging exchange of viewpoints between workers in different fields who use the common tools of this subject, the journal endeavours to make a contribution to unification in the field of cosmic electrodynamics and to the increase in communication, ultimately leading to a better understanding of the basic physics of collision-free plasmas.

Subscription price Dfl. 125,– (plus postage) per volume of four issues. Personal subscription price on request. One volume is published annually.

THE MOON

An International Journal of Lunar Studies

Editors: H. ALFVÉN, Stockholm. Z. KOPAL, Manchester. H. C. UREY, La Jolla.

The aim of this journal is to provide an inter-disciplinary but monothematic medium for publication of the results of original investigations in all fields of lunar studies – including astronomy (both optical and radio-astronomy), astronautics, chemistry, geology, space physics, and all other aspects of the scientific study of our satellite by spacecraft as well as by the more traditional approaches of ground-based astronomy. In addition, the journal will be open for critical review papers on broader aspects of lunar studies, aiming to encourage their growth. The journal – the first in any language to be devoted solely to lunar studies – brings into common focus the results of the studies from different branches of science in so far as they bear on the Moon and its environment. It cannot publish more than a fraction of the total scientific and technological contributions now being made to various aspects of lunar studies. However, it will keep in touch with the entire field by publishing in each issue a bibliography – with abstracts or critical comments – of work published concurrently in all other journals or more informal reports.

Subscription price Dfl. 135,– (plus postage) per volume of four issues. Personal subscription price on request. Two volumes are published annually.

SPACE LIFE SCIENCES

An International Journal of Space Biology and Medicine

Editor-in-Chief: R. L. MASTERS, Albuquerque
Associate Editors: G. EGLINTON, Bristol. C. PONNAMPERUMA, Moffett Field.

This journal contains original and review papers concerned with all phases of the space environment interaction including the lunar surface upon biological systems. The subject ranges from the purely theoretical aspects of chemical synthesis, molecular evolution, extraterrestrial life, to more immediate facets of the physiological, biochemical and behavioural parameters of space medicine.
Subscription price Dfl. 150,– (plus postage) per volume of four issues. Personal subscription price on request. One volume is published annually.

SPACE SCIENCE REVIEWS

Editorial Committee: W. J. G. BEYNON, Aberystwyth. C. DE JAGER, Utrecht. J. G. ROEDERER, Denver.

Space Science Reviews is an international journal containing invited review papers on space science, defined for the purpose as scientific research, carried out by means of rockets, rocket-propelled vehicles and partly also by means of stratospheric balloons and at observatories on the Earth or Moon. The journal is principally concerned with the purely scientific aspects of the subject but instrumental and technical aspects also receive attention.

Subscription price Dfl. 190,– (plus postage) per volume of six issues. Personal subscription price on request. About 9 issues are published annually.

Subscriptions should be sent to D. Reidel Publishing Company, P.O. Box 17, Dordrecht–Holland or to any subscription agent. Subscriptions are entered on receipt of payment and for complete volumes only.
Private subscriptions should be sent direct to the publisher.
